REQUIRED FOR ALL

The Great Divorce*—by C.S. Lewis

In "The Great Divorce", C.S. Lewis employs his formidable talent for fable and allegory, this time exploring the question of heaven and hell. Using his extraordinary descriptive powers, the theologian introduces readers to supernatural beings who will change the way we think about good and evil.

A Man for All Seasons* by Robert Bolt

The classic play about Sir Thomas More, the Lord chancellor who refused to compromise and was executed by Henry VIII.

FOR THE LADIES ONLY

Their Eyes Were Watching God* by Zora Neal Hurston

Hurston's beloved classic--one of the most important American novels of the 20th century--follows the fortunes of Janie Crawford, a woman who was married three times and had been tried for the murder of one of her husbands in the black town of Eaton, Florida.

A Doll's House* by Henrik Ibsen

Ibsen's best-known play displays his genius for realistic prose drama. An expression of women's rights, the play climaxes when the central character, Nora, rejects a smothering marriage and life in "a doll's house."

FOR THE MEN ONLY

Of Mice and Men* by John Steinbeck

While the powerlessness of the laboring class in a recurring theme in this classic work, Steinbeck narrows his focus, creating an intimate portrait of two men facing a world marked by petty tyranny, misunderstanding, jealousy, and callousness--a parable about commitment, loneliness, hope, and loss.

Death of a Salesman* by Arthur Miller

The tragedy of a typical American--a salesman who at the age of sixty-three is faced with what he cannot face; defeat and disillusionment.
